

Alchamax Digital Translator Version 12.0

Welcome: D'Angelo, Dana.

Now translating document into digital copy.

Loading...

...

...

Celeste Aoki: Diary Entry 4

January 30, 2013

Dear Mom,

Three words: BEST DAY EVER!!! So Auntie Acacia and pretty much everybody in E.G.G. Base had to leave for some yearly thing, and left me alone with two extremely awesome boys! Mr. Westbrook's friend Jerome and Eileen's brother Seth. Of course, Jocasta was babysitting, but some Syndicate soldiers broke into the library and took her out! So I hacked the Hall of E.G.G. (sorry mom! I know I said I'd be good!) and we suited up and saved the day! They both were awesome, and... kinda cute. I know you told me not even to even think about boys until college, but these guys had my back! Like, this one guy punched me, and they threw him off a balcony! But you know, they kind of have some growing up to do. Seth likes dragons and Jerome likes clones, and they argued a lot. If I weren't there, who knows what might have happened! Anyways, we didn't tell Auntie Acacia (well, we tried, but Jocasta wouldn't have it), but we will forever remember that adventure! I'm trying to think of a name for us! The Heroes of Tomorrow! No? Yeah, I was just spit balling.

Much love,

Celeste

...

...

End of translation.

Goodbye.

“I don’t know what Miguel has me looking at, but it’d better be pretty shocking important. He has me running all around this place picking up pages from some little girl’s diary, because he had to ‘take care of some business’, whatever that means! Funny though, she mentions the Heroes of Tomorrow in this... Haven’t heard of them since 3rd year history class! Wonder what all this is about...”